Ipamorelin, HCG and HGH Peptides suspended in colloidal silver nanoparticles, along with other Testosterone boosting herbs added.

Ipamorelin is a peptide that belongs to the class of growth hormone-releasing peptides (GHRPs). It is specifically designed to stimulate the production and release of human growth hormone (HGH) from the pituitary gland. This process is crucial for regulating various bodily functions, including muscle growth, bone density, and metabolism. By increasing growth hormone production, Ipamorelin helps restore hormonal balance, improve overall health, and enhance physical performance.

HGH peptides are chains of amino acids designed to stimulate the body's pituitary gland to naturally produce and release Human Growth Hormone (HGH).
